XIIIth International Young Linguists Conference
May 7-9, 2012, Philosophical Faculty, Palacký University,
Olomouc, Czech Republic

Workshop: Language corpora: creator and user

convenors: Michaela Martinková michaela.martinkova@upol.cz
Markéta Janebová marketa.janebova@upol.cz

The aim of this workshop is to bring together creators and users of language corpora to discuss various aspects of corpus work. We welcome paper proposals concerning

- a) corpus design, compilation, and types: size and representativeness of data, annotation, etc.
- b) methodology of corpus-based research: advantages and disadvantages of using a corpus as a source of linguistic data, the choice of a topic for corpus-based linguistic research, use of corpus data for testing hypotheses
- c) corpus-based research and its results: case studies or analyses of selected language phenomena using monolingual or parallel corpora of various languages (synchronic and diachronic, written and spoken language, multi-purpose and specialized). We are particularly interested in contrastive linguistic analyses of any kind.
- d) practical applications: using language corpora in translation, teaching foreign languages, lexicography

Language of presentation: English, Czech and Slovak

Duration of presentation: 15 minutes plus 5 minutes for discussion

As the workshop will take place as part of the 13th International Young Linguists Conference, for registration and paper proposal submission please follow instructions given in the letter of invitation at <http://mladi-lingviste.webnode.cz/>, state Workshop: Language corpora: creator and user in the subject of your e-mail.
